No News Is Not Always Good News

Seven members of The Star staff returned home over the week-end from the annual Summer convention of the Arkansas Press Association at Hot Springs' Arlington Hotel.

The programs were good for this 98th meeting, and your editor should be a fair judge of that, for he's been attending APA meetings since the 1920s.

One value of convention-going is that you get accurate reports on the trend of your particular business or profession—an important indicator for the state and possibly the nation. Judging from what I heard in the Arlington lobby Thursday through Saturday business is on the upbeat in Arkansas, and this confirms other indicators which report business running ahead throughout the nation in 1972.

From one particular area of the newspaper business, however, I heard nothing, and this contradicts the adage, "No news is good news." I heard nothing about higher postage rates, or poorer mail service—but this doesn't mean our mail situation is improving. The fact is, it is getting worse. Publishers resolved on having a good time at the convention simply refused to think about bad news.

Uppermost in everyone's mind at Hot Springs, although unmentioned, were:

1. A top story in the current issue of Editor & Publisher, New York, organ of the daily newspaper business, quoting Stanford Smith, president and general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, as saying that the record-breaking postal rate hike "will hit the small papers hardest."

2. A top story in Wall Street Journal one day last week reporting that the first anniversary of the new autonomous Postal Service was marked by no celebration—there being nation-wide reports of declining service and a big fat cloud of gloom over the future.

Outing ends in tragedy

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—The swif waters of the Missouri River tragically ended a July Fourth outing Sunday as five mentally retarded youths from the Omaha, Neb., area and a counselor accompanying them drowned at Indian Cave State Park northeast of here.

A spokesman for the Eastern Nebraska Community Office of Retardation (ENCOR) in Omaha said five were ENCOR clients and the sixth was an ENCOR staff member. They ranged in age from 17 to 22.

Another ENCOR client was hospitalized in Falls City suffering from shock.

The group of 15 persons had camped in the area Saturday and was due to return to Omaha Sunday, ENCOR officials said.

Prior to returning, the group sought a place in the river for wading, according to Tom Hagel, 23, an ENCOR staff member.

Three of the staff members waded into the water to check the depth before allowing others to wade, Hagel said. Where the river deepened, staffers formed a semicircle to prevent the youths from wandering into the deeper water.

One youth broke through the semicircle and disappeared into the water, Hagel said, and four others then panicked and followed him into the deeper water.

Court used to regain votes

WASHINGTON (AP)—California supporters of Sen. George McGovern are seeking to win back in the courts the 151 California delegates they lost in the Democratic Credentials Committee.

A suit was filed with the U.S. District Court in Washington asking a restraining order to prevent the revised California delegation from being seated at the Democratic convention, which opens July 10 at Miami Beach. A hearing was scheduled this morning before Dist. Court Judge George L. Hart Jr.

The suit alleges that the Credentials Committee acted unconstitutionally when it overruled California's winner-take-all primary, won by McGovern. The committee apportioned 151 of the state's 271 votes among presidential contenders Hubert H. Humphrey, George C. Wallace and others.

McGovern, still the easy front-runner with 1,276.9 committed votes with 1,509 needed for nomination, indicated Sunday he would be willing to compromise on the challenges to the California delegation, which he lost, and to the Illinois delegation, which his forces won.

"If I thought it would serve the interests of a stronger party and heal some of these wounds and not do any violence to the rules of the party, I would support a compromise," he said on ABC's "Issues and Answers" program.

In an effort to beef up his strength in advance of Miami Beach, McGovern said he will seek a meeting with AFL-CIO President George Meany this week. Meany is officially uncommitted in the race for the nomination, although he is considered a supporter of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie.

All Around Town

All offices in the Hempstead County Courthouse will be closed Tuesday, it was announced today.

The Star will not publish an issue tomorrow (July 4) and the office will be closed. The Star staff takes three holidays—July 4, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

James H. Jones Jr., Friday night was elected president of the Little Rock professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the society of journalists. Jones, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, Sr., served the chapter the past year as vice president, and has been with the Arkansas Gazette since 1965.

He previously worked for the Texarkana Gazette and the Northwest Arkansas Times at Fayetteville.

The Hope Roundup Club trail ride will be the afternoon of July 4 beginning at the Lee Norton place in the proving grounds. Trail boss Elmer Hampton and club president, "Pug" Goodner, invite all members and non-members for this ride.

The G.D. Formby listed in Thursdays court docket is not Gary Don Formby of Patmos, Ark.

Sam Dameron of Hope landed a 342 pound blue marlin while ocean fishing off Hatteras Island, N.C. last Tuesday. Dameron spent 3 hours 50 minutes landing the fish.

The Credentials Committee, still meeting in Washington, refused convention seats to Mississippi's regular Democrats late Saturday. It voted unanimously to seat the 25-member Loyalist delegation, which also was seated in 1968.

The main charge was that the regular party failed to adopt the party's reform rules. Other challenges settled over the weekend included:

Michigan—The committee ruled that supporters of Gov. Wallace could substitute three of their supporters for three delegates elected on a Wallace ticket but believed leaning toward Sen. McGovern. It also agreed to include 10 women with one-half vote each in the 27 delegates committed to Sen. Humphrey.

Maryland—Wallace lost three delegates on grounds they had not been apportioned according to party rules. Humphrey picked up two of the delegates and McGovern the third. The action was a compromise proposed by Lt. Gov. Blair Lee III.

Virginia—Challengers in the 4th District, involving three of four delegate seats, agreed on a compromise to share the seats on a one-half-vote-per-delegate basis.

Plot to overthrow foreign country is smashed by arrests

By HUGH MORGAN
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A plot U.S. officials say was aimed at overthrowing a foreign country—apparently Communist Cuba—has been revealed in the arrest of nine persons in a $465,000 munitions smuggling scheme.

Allegedly stretching from New York to Louisiana, Texas and Mexico, the plot came to light with the arrests Saturday. In addition, nearly seven tons of plastic explosives were seized in a DC4 transport plane at Shreveport, La., federal agents said.

U.S. Atty. Gerald Gallinhouse said Sunday federal officials "have no reason to believe that the munitions were destined for any country other than Cuba."

The complaint charging two of the men, Murray Kessler of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Adler B. Seal of Baton Rouge, La., alleged they "knew and believed that this material would be used in an attempted overthrow of a foreign nation." The two men were arrested near the New Orleans International Airport. Gallinhouse refused to say precisely that the overthrow plot involved Cuba.

The nine were charged with conspiring to smuggle the explosives from the United States to Mexico for future shipment to a third country.

Among those arrested were Richmond Harper, a prominent South Texas rancher-banker, and Marion Hegler, a former inspector with the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service. They were taken into custody at Eagle Pass, Tex., where they reside, then released on $25,000 bond each.

The federal complaint alleges dealings by a man known as "Carlos Diaz" to purchase as much as $1.2 million in munitions and weapons, ranging from submachine guns to M16s. No guns, however, were aboard the plane raided by federal agents at Shreveport on Saturday.

The federal complaint alleges Kessler agreed last Wednesday to sell to Diaz 13,500 pounds of C-4 plastic explosives, 7,000 feet of primacord, 2,600 electrical blasting caps and 25 electrical detonators for $430,000.

In addition, it alleges that another $35,000 was to be paid for flying the explosives to an airfield near Vera Cruz, Mexico.

The complaint said that last Friday "Kessler told Carlos (Diaz) that he had no M16 rifles, but he had the C-4 as per their agreement."

A rental aircraft was flown that afternoon from Hammond, La., to Shreveport, the complaint said. "A rental van then went to the South Western Pipe Co. in Shreveport and then picked up 13,500 pounds of a plastic explosive commonly known as C-4," the complaint said.

"The explosive was then transported back to the site where the DC4 aircraft was being kept and per an agreement between Kessler and Diaz, the explosives were loaded onto the aircraft," it said. Federal agents then moved in.

Where is Fischer?

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)

—The International Chess Federation postponed the start of the Bobby Fischer-Boris Spassky world championship series until Tuesday after Fischer failed to arrive in Iceland over the weekend. The American champion was believed still in New York.

Fischer's 24-game match with the Russian world's champion was to have begun Sunday, and the president of the world federation, Dr. Max Euwe, announced if the American challenger failed to show up by noon Tuesday he would risk forfeiting his chance at the title.

Fischer's representatives in Iceland requested the postponement on the grounds that he was unable to play because of fatigue. But it was generally assumed that the request was part of Fischer's campaign to get more money out of the Icelanders.

Fischer and Spassky have agreed to split a $125,000 purse, with the winner taking five-eighths, and are also to each get 30 per cent of the sale of film and television rights. But Fischer is seeking an additional 30 per cent of the gate receipts, and his representatives have been negotiating this point with sponsors of the match, the Icelandic Chess Federation.

Agreement reached by Gandhi-Bhutto

By WILLIAM C. MANN

SIMLA, India (AP)—Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto reached their first peace agreement early today and promised future negotiations on the other issues between their two nations, including Kashmir and the Pakistani POWs in India.

The agreement, which came after five days of talks in this Himalayan resort, said Indian and Pakistani forces will withdraw from the territories they seized last December along India's western border except in Kashmir. There they will maintain the cease-fire line established by the two-week war in December.

The pact also contained a pledge to settle all disputes bilaterally and peacefully, and said steps should be taken to restore and normalize relations, which Pakistan severed Dec. 6 when India recognized Bangladesh.

The agreement gave no timetable, but called for measures to resume communications and air links, promote travel between their countries, reopen trade, and carry out scientific and cultural exchanges.

Excluding Kashmir, India during the December war seized a total of 5,139 square miles of territory in West Pakistan, while Pakistan took 69 square miles of Indian territory. In Kashmir, where the troops will remain in position, India took 480 square miles and Pakistan occupied 53 square miles.

The agreement said the troops withdrawals would take place within 30 days after ratification by both governments.

Radio Pakistan announced that the Pakistani National Assembly would meet July 10 to ratify the agreement. Under the Indian constitution, parliamentary ratification is not necessary.

On the road to Quang Tri

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese marines, supported by U.S. fighter-bombers dropping cluster bombs on fleeing North Vietnamese troops, moved forward today toward Quang Tri City.

Associated Press correspondent Holger Jensen reported from the northern front that the North Vietnamese were fleeing in small groups before the steady movement of the marines, apparently hoping to escape the U.S. air strikes and the shelling of American Navy ships offshore.

U.S. B52 bombers flew 13 missions around Quang Tri City, striking ahead of the marines to within three miles of the town's southeastern edge. U.S. fighter-bombers hit the North Vietnamese with antipersonnel cluster bombs.

The marines reported the North Vietnamese attacked them on their eastern flank with a force of infantry and tanks. But spokesmen said the South Vietnamese and their air and artillery support drove off the attacks, killed 100 of the North Vietnamese, destroyed four tanks and captured another.

Thirty miles to the south, 30 rounds of heavy artillery fire hit Hue, military spokesmen said, but there was no immediate report of casualties.

Nearly 70 shells crashed into the former imperial capital Sunday, killing 12 civilians and wounding 53. It was the first shelling of the city since the North Vietnamese offensive began March 30.

Spokesmen also said government troops in two positions west and northwest of Hue were hit by more than 1,200 rounds and by a ground attack at one position Sunday and early Monday. The spokesmen said the attackers might be trying to pull South Vietnamese troops away from the drive on Quang Tri.

The Saigon command reported fighting continuing for the third day 75 miles northeast of Saigon. It said a North Vietnamese attack on a district headquarters at Phuoc Binh was repulsed and 120 of the attackers were killed, most of them by air strikes.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. Navy jets blasted the Yong Bi thermal power plant 10 miles northeast of Haiphong for the second time in six weeks.

Conviction upheld by Supreme Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Supreme Court upheld today the murder conviction of Johnnie Stephenson, who appealed on grounds that evidence did not support the assumption that he had an ability to comprehend his discussions with his attorney.

Stephenson pleaded guilty July 22, 1968, to a charge of second-degree murder in the 1967 death of Lee Jackson Palmer. Circuit Court Judge William J. Kirby of Little Rock imposed a 21-year sentence.

In the appeal, Stephenson said his attorney had entered the plea without his approval or knowledge.

Stephenson said in the appeal that he had only a third-grade education, could not read without glasses, and was very hard of hearing, "and thus, the assumption of an ability to comprehend the discussions his attorney had with him prior to the guilty plea is purely speculative."

However, the Supreme Court, in an opinion by Associate Justice Conley Byrd, said that Kirby discovered there was no need to "holler" at Stephenson because the defendant could read lips.

Kirby pronounced formal sentence in these words: "It is the judgment and sentence of this court that you be taken by the sheriff of this county and delivered to the Department of Correction, there to serve at hard labor for a period of 21 years. It is the further direction of this court that you serve at least a third of that sentence, or seven years, before becoming eligible for parole."

over Haiphong. The U.S. Command made no report of any losses Sunday, but it disclosed that a Navy A7 was lost two weeks ago, on June 18, about 30 miles southwest of Vinh. It said the pilot was not found despite a search.

Hanoi claimed two U.S. planes were shot down Sunday, one over Hanoi and the other erred to the Department of Correction, there to serve at hard labor for a period of 21 years.

Hijacker is killed by plane passenger

By RICHARD BLYSTONE
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A young Vietnamese man who tried to hijack a Pan American jumbo jet with 153 persons aboard to Hanoi in revenge for U.S. bombing of North Vietnam was overpowered by the pilot and shot to death by an armed passenger Sunday.

The hijacker was tentatively identified today as a speaker at antiwar rallies at the University of Washington in Seattle, where he had studied fishery science on a U.S. government scholarship and graduated with honors last month.

The young man, carrying a South Vietnamese passport in the name Nguyen Thai Binh, met violent death after the pilot tricked him and landed at Saigon, the flight's scheduled destination, in defiance of his demand to fly to North Vietnam.

The 135 other passengers were safely evacuated by sliding down emergency chutes, used to empty the plane quickly in case of explosion.

To back up his threats, the hijacker carried a long knife and a package which he said contained a bomb. Vietnamese police sources said two homemade grenades were in the package and there was no indication whether they could have exploded. But the airline described them as harmless "egg-shaped objects" wrapped in aluminum foil.

The hijacking attempt began after the jumbo jet, flight 841, left Manila on the last leg of its San Francisco-to-Saigon flight. Binh, who had boarded in Honolulu, grabbed a stewardess as a hostage and sent two notes to the control cabin demanding that the plane be diverted to Hanoi.

The hijacker, in the rear passenger compartment, also talked with the pilot, Capt. Gene Vaughn, 53, of Scottsdale, Ariz., over the intercom.

"I am doing this for revenge," Vaughn said he told him. "Your bombers are maiming and killing our people of the Democratic Republic of North Vietnam. You are going to fly me to Hanoi and this airplane will be destroyed when we get there."

Authorities withheld the name of the passenger who shot Binh.

The pilot said the man had checked his .357 Magnum pistol with him when he boarded the plane and that before confronting the hijacker he returned it and asked the man to help.

South Vietnam troops striking back at north

SAIGON (AP) — With growing confidence, South Vietnam's battered armed forces are striking back in hopes of reversing the flow of Hanoi's massive invasion. And while some success seems ultimately assured, the outcome is likely to fall short of what President Nguyen Van Thieu called "the final battle."

Some military and political observers believe the three months of fighting since the North's offensive started, although the bloodiest of the war in some respects, have proved nothing except—once again—that a military solution is impossible in Indochina, and the only way to a cease-fire and a settlement is through negotiation.

Gaining favor now among allied officials appears to be a view that the North Vietnamese, having tried their utmost but failed to achieve any of their major objectives, will pull back to refit for yet another try.

Some think this next attempt might come as early as next year, but many U.S. officers are so optimistic as to believe the Communist command has finished itself militarily for up to four years.

Nevertheless, the South Vietnamese also are facing severe problems.

The enemy push has again reshaped the borders of the country in the Saigon region, with the Communist command effectively controlling large areas of South Vietnam that it will probably take years for the Saigon forces to recover by staying on the offensive, not a familiar role for ARVN troops.

Many areas of the countryside, including 1,164 hamlets out of 15,000 and more than 565,000 people, about 3.0 per cent of the population, are under enemy control, with many more potentially lost, with a million persons counted as refugees.

"It will take years to restore that situation even if the offensive should end tomorrow," said one U.S. official.

The success of the North Vietnamese drive, to whatever degree it extends in the final analysis, also is likely to have an eroding effect on the confidence of the people, which the Saigon government has tried hard to cultivate.

One thing working in the South Vietnamese government's favor in this respect, say officials, has been the failure of the Viet Cong to fulfill their role in the Hanoi plan.

Communist documents in the hands of allied officials are the basis for this belief, telling how the Viet Cong did not mobilize their forces in strength but spread them too thinly and dissipated their effect, and also reporting that Viet Cong political agents and cadres moved too slowly in organizing the political side of the offensive among the people.

Many U.S. officials contend that the Viet Cong are not an important force except in certain areas, in particular the coastal provinces and some areas of the Mekong Delta, where they have always been strong.

The idea that North Vietnam's own forces are finished for a while stems in large part from what allied officers believe are their battle losses.

Although it is conceded that no one on the allied side really knows what enemy losses are, and so-called body counts have never proved reliable, some senior commanders believe Hanoi has lost as many as 50,000 men—mostly to air and artillery strikes.

Although North Vietnam has never had a provable manpower problem during the war, most military men insist it is having one now. They say most of the Communist units which began the offensive at full strength have not been able to keep up their strength with replacements, especially in the face of B52 strikes and other mass-killing barrages.

There are reports of enemy units being unable to carry out their missions because of heavy manpower losses, but ordered to do so anyway.

Allied officials also say evidence indicates the North Vietnamese soldiers now are much younger, sometimes 15 and 16, and have been thrown into many battle situations with almost no preparation and far less fighting skill than American and South Vietnamese soldiers have learned to expect from the army that is sometimes called the "world's finest light infantry."

They point to examples of inexperience, poor planning and amateurish execution, such as the tactics used by North Vietnamese tanks, which have been destroyed in large numbers almost everywhere they have appeared.

Many American officers believe the North Vietnamese erred in trying to use tanks, big artillery pieces and other new and complicated weapons. While often effective and frightening to the South Vietnamese, they also proved more of a burden because of the additional logistics and supply requirements they created.

Two men shot in bar, man being held

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — An elderly Texarkana man was being held Sunday for questioning in the shooting deaths Saturday of two men at a Texarkana bar.

The man, who was not identified, was not charged Sunday. Police said John Lee Kilby, 29, of Texarkana and Charles Garner, 35, of Little Rock were shot to death with a .25-caliber automatic pistol in a restroom of the Lone Star Bar.

Officers said Kilby was shot five times in the chest and stomach and that Garner was hit twice in the chest. Garner, who staggered outside the bar and fell to the sidewalk, died about an hour after the shooting.

Police said Kilby had been shot accidentally Thursday night in the Texarkana police station after his arrest on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

MRS. ROBERT T. HUFFMAN

Herring-Huffman vows exchanged in El Dorado

Miss Sandra Jean Herring and Robert Terry Huffman were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony performed Saturday evening, June 24, at the First United Methodist Church of El Dorado by Dr. Alvin C. Murray. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Herring of El Dorado and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Huffman of Hope.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk organza featuring an empire waistline and full bishop sleeves fastened with bands of Venice lace which held ruffles of organza edged with lace. Scalloped Guipure lace outlined the high neckline and formed a redingote effect on the skirt which swept into a wateau chapel train bordered with lace. Her chapel length veil of imported silk illusion was held by a half hat of Venice lace embellished with pearls and hand cut crystal beads. She carried a long cascade of miniature pink carnations, pink sweetheart roses, and stephanotis centered by a white orchid.

Miss Vicky Herring, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a long gown of baby pink dotted swiss fashioned with an empire waistline and full sleeves ending in a ruffle edged with lace. The dress featured a scooped neckline edged with lace and rows of lace and embroidered rosebuds on the bodice. A wide satin ribbon accented the empire waistline, forming a large bow in the back and falling to the hemline in streamers. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses, pink carnations, English ivy, and gypsophila. Identically attired were the bride's other attendants, Mrs. James Stuart Royal and Mrs. Michael Hardin. Carol Artzt, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a long frock of pink dotted swiss overlaid with a white pinafore and carried a white basket of rose petals.

Candlelighters were Don Herring, brother of the bride, and Walter Felton.

Charles Ellis of Fayetteville attended the groom as best man, and the ushers were James Stuart Royal, Michael Hardin, and Jim Ross.

Decorating the fellowship hall for the reception which followed the ceremony were summer blossoms in shades of pink flanked by a pair of nine-branched silver candelabras entwined with greenery. The serving table was lighted by burning pink tapers in a pair of silver candelabras. The registry table held the bride's book and memory candle, as well as the bride's bouquet.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. George Forward, Mrs. Jarrell Felton, Mrs. Mike Moore, Mrs. Hermis McAllister, Mrs. Fredrick Porter, Miss Beth Bayliss, Miss Carolyn Forward, and Miss Mary Ella Impson. Miss Dana Dumas provided music.

The bride traveled in a two-piece costume of navy voile and white linen. She used white accessories and the white orchid from her bouquet. After a honeymoon trip to the Gulf Coast and Mexico the couple will be at home in Hope for the summer where Mr. Huffman is doing research for his Master's thesis. In the fall they will return to Fayetteville where he is employed as a teaching assistant while attending graduate school at the University of Arkansas. Mrs. Huffman will teach in the Prairie Grove School District.

Out of town guests included Mrs. Alex Artzt, Jr. of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cadena of San Antonio, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Impson of Hope; Hermis McAllister of Austin, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry L. Thomas, and Lynn Thomas of Magnolia; and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tyer of Hope.

In dad's footsteps HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Reiko Hayakawa, daughter of famed Japanese film star Sessue Hayakawa, will play the role of Zero Mostel's Number One wife in "Marco," which co-stars Desi Arnaz Jr.

Shower fetes Miss Royston

Miss Margie Royston, bride-elect of Joe B. Scruggs of Little Rock was feted with a lingerie shower on June 29 in Little Rock at the home of Mrs. Bryon Southern with Miss Loretta Singleton and Miss Susan Nash, co-hostesses.

The honoree wore a long cotton frock of white and orange and pinned white carnations at her shoulder. Mrs. Joe B. Scruggs, Sr. of Little Rock and Mrs. G.D. Royston, Jr. of Hope, mothers of the engaged couple, were among the 25 guests. Others from out of town were Mrs. Grandy Royston of Arkadelphia, sister-in-law of the honoree, and Mrs. W.S. Cope of Prescott, Miss Royston's aunt.

After the many lovely gifts were opened and several games were played, the guests were served frosted punch, lemon cake squares, nuts and mints from a table overlaid with white organdy and decorated with wedding bells, white doves and fleur d'amour.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Should She Marry Or Not?

Dear Helen:
I'm 51, expecting a baby, and don't know whether I should get married or not. You see, Andy, the father of this child had a terrible marriage and so did I. We're both divorced (four of my eight children are still living at home). We worry about taking a chance again, especially since he's 12 years younger than me. But we DO love each other.

He's good and kind and loves my children. Because of my age, the doctor says I must take it very easy, so Andy does everything for us—though he doesn't live with us. We're on Welfare, and I think it would be cheating if he moved in but wasn't my husband. He says we're his whole life and I believe him.

Should we go on as we are until we're sure this marriage will work, or should we marry now to give the baby a name? That seems like "forcing" things and maybe we're not ready. — L.B.

Do I read between the lines: "Maybe we can't AFFORD marriage"? Does Andy earn enough to pay doctor and hospital bills and support a family of seven? Perhaps finances are the big problem here—not compatibility—for you seem very well suited to each other.

Work out a budget together, aim for a job after the baby is born, talk the situation over with your Welfare worker (you may still be eligible for aid to dependent children), and let's hope you can manage a wedding before the birth announcement. —H.

Dear Helen:
You felt it "cold-blooded" that the second and subsequent illegitimate children of welfare families should be taken away for adoption, as a recent letter suggested.

You might change your mind if you worked along with me as a Special Education Teacher for the handicapped. Many of these children are "retarded" or slow because they have had no chance at home. They are educationally and emotionally handicapped through poverty and ignorance. It has been proved that the first five years of a child's life shape much of his later success or failure, and when he has had no pre-school "enrichment" which the ordinary middle-class home takes for granted (games, trips, talk, reading or being read-to, the feeling that people care) he often is blighted; he can't catch up with his peers, so gives up instead.

I realize all unwed mothers are not "don't care" types or mentally impaired, but a big percentage of those who have several illegitimate children may raise them in the same mold, thus continuing the vicious circle of illiteracy, Welfare, and hopelessness. If the children were removed from such homes and given to foster parents who could provide adequately for them, we might break the circle.

Better yet, these single Welfare mothers of several should be sterilized by the State. And I believe that people retarded beyond a certain point should also be sterilized so that they won't bring more damaged, or neglected unwanted children into the world. —CONCERNED TEACHER

$50 for Friday Club

It came at a time when it was needed most—a check for $50. The new president, of the Friday Music Club, Mrs. James McLarty received the monetary recognition from the National Federation of Music Clubs for the club's program theme the past year, which highlighted the works of American women composers. The American Women Composers Performance Award was presented to 14 clubs, in the United States, and the Friday Music Club of Hope was the first-place winner in the southwest district of the central region.

Mrs. B.C. Hyatt was responsible for carrying out the theme, "American Women in Music," to its winning conclusion.

Why is a non-profit organization like the Friday Music Club particularly elated at receiving the money?

For the first time in 20 years Arkansas will host a meeting of the National Federation of Music Clubs when the National Board and Council of Presidents convene in Hot Springs in August, and the 32 senior music clubs, several junior clubs and student clubs are sharing in the financial responsibility for hosting the meeting.

The award money came just in time to pay the local club's part of expenses for the August 11-15 meeting. Among the Arkansas Federation officers making plans for the national meeting is Mrs. Arch Wylie, Southwest District President. The local delegation will be headed by Mrs. McLarty and the immediate past president of the Friday Music Club, Mrs. Helen Hatch.

Miss Ghormley is honoree

A bridal shower honoring Miss Michelle Ghormley, bride-elect of Billy Bob Smith was the event of June 22. The Douglas Building was decorated with pink and red, chosen colors of the bride-elect.

Miss Ghormley was attired in black print knit and pinned with a feathered pink carnation corsage. Mrs. Ghormley, bride-elect's mother and Mrs. Hawley, groom's mother were also pinned with white carnations.

The refreshment table was overlaid with a full pink net cloth with pink and red bows at each corner. A pink candle arrangement, made by Mrs. Dean Murphy served as the centerpiece.

Many beautiful and useful gifts were displayed on a full white net tablecloth. The bride-elect received a set of stainless steel cookware from the hostesses, Kathy Cox, Mrs. Patti Tye, Benita Powell, and Kennetha Cornelius.

Gwen Phillips, Pam Powell, and Mary Snell also served as hostesses.

McCovey blasts record-tying grand slam homer

By HERSCHEL NISSESON
Associated Press Sports Writer
There's a new line in the National League record book today and a new team in the East Division pennant race. San Francisco's Willie McCovey blasted a record-tying 14th career grand slam home run Sunday in the Giants' 9-3 rout of Los Angeles while the streaking St. Louis Cardinals, 15 1/2 games out of first place exactly one month ago, made it six victories in a row and 21 of 26 with a 7-3 trouncing of Philadelphia and trail front-running Pittsburgh by a mere 6 1/2 games.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh downed the Chicago Cubs 7-4, Montreal edged the New York Mets 4-3, Cincinnati swamped San Diego 12-2 and Houston

Orioles trim Tiger's lead

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The reports of baseball's demise seem grossly exaggerated.

Berated by a series of polls and battered first by a pre-season player strike and then by a rain-soaked month of June, the national pastime has somehow survived. Now it is July—baseball weather, at last—and Baltimore and Detroit are proving that if you give the fans something exciting to see, they'll come out to see it.

The Orioles and Tigers, battling for first place in the American League's East Division, climax a four-game showdown series in Detroit tonight. The first three meetings have attracted 119,500 fans to ancient Tiger Stadium—an average of a shade under 40,000 per game.

A crowd of 37,635 showed up

Sunday and saw Baltimore trim the Tigers' lead down to one game with a 7-2 victory. If the Orioles can win tonight in the nationally televised fourth game of the nose-to-nose confrontation, it will leave the two clubs in a flatfooted tie at the top of the division. A Detroit victory would restore the two-game Tiger lead.

Elsewhere in the American League Sunday, New York swept a doubleheader from Cleveland 6-1 and 5-2, Boston took a pair from Milwaukee 15-4 and 3-2 in 11 innings, Minnesota split a twin bill with Chicago, winning 6-4 before losing 2-1, Texas and Kansas City divided two games, the Rangers winning the first 7-5 and the Royals taking the second 8-3, and Oakland trimmed California 3-1.

In the National League, Pittsburgh defeated Chicago 7-4, Montreal tripped New York 4-3, St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 7-3, Houston nipped Atlanta 5-4, Cincinnati routed San Diego 12-2 and San Francisco swamped Los Angeles 9-3.

Sunday's version of the Oriole-Tiger showdown was somewhat less dramatic than Detroit's 2-0 victory Saturday, which ended with a leaping catch by Jim Northrup that turned what looked like a game-tying home run into a game-ending double-play instead.

Boog Powell crashed a three-run homer in the first inning and Don Buford added a two-run shot in the fifth to key the Baltimore victory.

The Yankees ran their winning streak to five games and extended Cleveland's losing streak to eight with their doubleheader sweep against the Indians.

Fritz Peterson scattered nine hits to capture the opener with Bobby Murcer leading the attack. Murcer doubled and scored in the first inning and later drove in three runs with a single and sacrifice fly.

In the nightcap, Ron Blomberg hit a towering home run and contributed one of four consecutive sixth inning singles that put New York in front for keeps.

The Red Sox unloaded for 18 hits against Milwaukee in the first game of their doubleheader with Rico Petrocelli and Reggie Smith driving in five runs apiece.

Ben Oglivie, who had three hits in the first game romp, contributed three more in the nightcap as Boston completed the sweep.

Richie Scheinblum, the American League's leading hitter, had six hits in nine at bats for Kansas City in the doubleheader split with Texas. Cookie Rojas also had six hits for the Royals.

Texas took the opener with RBI-singles by Ted Kubiak and Frank Howard snapping a 5-5 tie in the 10th inning. Hal King's seventh inning homer tied it for the Rangers, who blew an early 4-0 lead.

Scheinblum took care of the nightcap against his former teammates, collecting a homer, double and single and scoring three times.

Minnesota clipped Chicago in the first game of their doubleheader with Bobby Darwin and Eric Soderholm driving in two runs apiece. Jim Kaat, 10-2, got credit for the victory with late relief help from Wayne Graninger and Dave LaRoche.

In the second game, Pat Kelly drove in one run and scored the other as the White Sox rebounded for the split.

Vida Blue won his second game of the season, limiting California to seven hits to beat the Angels. Joe Rudi had a double and triple and scored two runs for Oakland.

homed for the Phils.

Bob Robertson and Manny Sanguillen homered for the Pirates as they continued their mastery of the Cubs—seven of nine this season—despite a Chicago triple play in the seventh on Sanguillen's sharp bouncer to third.

Robertson, dead last among major league hitters with at least 125 at-bats, also singled home the first run and has raised his average 40 points—to .156—since June 15 with two of his four homers and 10 of his 16 runs batted in during that stretch.

The Mets fell one game behind Pittsburgh when rookie Bob Rauch, making only his second major league appearance, issued four walks in the ninth inning, the last to Ron Fairly with two out forcing in Montreal's winning run.

Two singles by Fairly helped the Expos to a 3-0 lead but the Mets, blanked until the ninth by Bill Stoneman on four hits, tied it on two doubles, an error, sacrifice fly and Willie Mays' two-out pinch single.

Gary Nolan became the NL's first 11-game winner with seventh-inning help from Clay Carroll and home runs by Caesar Geronimo, Johnny Bench—his 21st—and Tony Perez. The Reds wrapped it up by blasting San Diego pitching for eight runs in the eighth inning. Nate Colbert homered for the Padres.

Pam, who hasn't won on the women's tour yet this year, appeared headed to victory Sunday when she birdied the first two holes. But they were the only two. She carded three bogeys on the front nine and three more coming home.

She shared second place with Judy Rankin and Kathy Ahern.

SAILING IS A BREEZE for an experienced hand even in a stiff breeze. As Ed Baird demonstrates in his racing sloop on Florida's Tampa Bay, to heel sharply you use a little body English and . . .

. . . wait a minute! This is too much of a good thing . . .

... In fact, enough is enough! Anybody for tennis?

Foyt is favored to win

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — It might be easier to pick second place in the Firecrackers 400 stock car race Tuesday than to single out the winner.

In 16 events on the rich Winston Cup circuit this year, either Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., or Richard Petty of Randleman, N. C., has been runnerup 11 times.

Between them they've also won eight events. Allison is the leading money winner of 1972 with $113,335 and Petty is his closest pursuer with $112,035 in the bank.

Throw in the Wood brothers' Mercury driven early in the season by A. J. Foyt of Houston and more recently by David Pearson of Spartanburg, S. C., and you have an odds-on quintet of first and second place favorites.

Foyt won two races and Pearson three in the Mercury. Foyt was second once. Petty, now in a Dodge but earlier with a Plymouth, has five firsts and three second places. Allison, consistently at the wheel of a Chevrolet, has won three races. He has finished second eight times.

Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N. C., starting on the pole position in a Dodge he qualified at 186.277 miles an hour, has won once and finished second twice.

"One thing that happened last year isn't likely to happen again, vowed the 37-year-old former Grand National champion. "We won't have the hood coming up on us. Harry Hyde (crew chief) has added a fourth pin."

Isaac won last year's Fourth of July feature with his hood flapping under only one of its three restraining pins and threatening to flop up against his windshield on the final laps.

He started in 21st place as a late qualifier but benefited by mechanical troubles that struck down other contenders.

Frogs usually have smooth skins and toads warty skins.

Devlin hopes history will repeat itself

CLEVELAND (AP) — Can history repeat itself? It often does, and Bruce Devlin, the onetime master plumber from Australia, hopes it will in the $150,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament.

In 1970 Devlin shot a 66 in the third round of the Cleveland Open. In the fourth round, he burned up the course with a 64 and won the championship.

Devlin shot a 66, five under par on the 6,905-yard Tanglewood Country Club course, in Sunday's third round of the rain-delayed Cleveland Open.

If history repeats itself, insofar as Devlin is concerned, he'll have to shoot a 64 in today's final 18 holes. A 64 in itself won't guarantee first place and the big winner's check. But it would take a 65 by the third-round co-leaders, Lanny Wadkins and Larry Hinson, to deny Devlin the championship.

Hinson, who had the lead or a share of it for the first two rounds, shot a 69 Sunday and was tied at 206 with Wadkins, who carded a 67. Cesar Sanudo was next at 67-207. Then came Devlin, who had a one-stroke lead on fellow Aussie David Graham; Wilf Homenuik, a Dutch-born Canadian national; and Brian Allin.

The Monday finish was set up after rain washed out Thursday's first round.

Devlin's 65 was helped by a putter given away to good customers of a Cleveland plumbing firm. "It looks bloody awful," grinned Devlin, "but I'm hitting the center of the cups with it."

Devlin represents the plumbing concern.

"I just endorse their products," he said. "I was putting bad and I had changed putters twice already, and this assistant general manager said, 'We give away putters to good customers and I'll bring you one.'"

A look at Lockheed

By DONALD ROTHBERG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A healthy flow of Pentagon business, a huge federal loan guarantee and a helping hand from Britain so far have failed to lift Lockheed Aircraft Corp. above financial storm clouds that threatened it with bankruptcy.

The nation's No. 1 defense contractor, heavily in debt, has pegged its future to its big commercial jet, the Tristar L1011. But the airline business is in a slump and orders for the $18 million plane are below expectations.

A year ago, Lockheed was reeling from $484 million in losses on four government projects and from the bankruptcy of Rolls Royce Ltd., British builder of the engines for the Tristar.

Lockheed owed a consortium of 24 banks $400 million. Its net worth, according to a Pentagon study, was $240 million. The banks wouldn't lend any more money.

Lockheed Chairman Daniel J. Haughton appealed for government help, declaring that without it the Tristar program would be scuttled.

"If that happens, I know of absolutely no way to keep Lockheed out of bankruptcy," he said.

The Nixon administration backed Haughton's appeal and after a long and bitter fight, Congress voted to pledge government credit for up to $250 million in new bank loans.

So Lockheed kept alive. The British government provided the money to enable Rolls Royce to stay in business and offered airlines separate financing for 90 per cent of the cost of the engines with which Rolls still is having problems.

Where is Lockheed today? It used $100 million of the loan guarantee to obtain extra financing and now owes the banks a total of $500 million.

It delivered the first three-engine Tristars this spring to Eastern and Trans World Airlines. But since obtaining the loan backing during the airline slump, it has sold only two more of the 272-passenger planes.

The Tristar's main competition is the McDonnell-Douglas DC10, an American-built three engine jumbo, and a twin-engine European Airbus. Available earlier, the DC10 so far has outsold the Tristar 170 to 104.

Lockheed says it will start making money once it sells between 255-265 Tristars. A classified Pentagon study puts the figure at 370, an estimate Lockheed steadfastly denies. Plane-buying decisions vitally important to the Tristar's future are due, probably this fall, from British European Airways and Japan's All Nippon Airways.

But Lockheed has not lost any interest in the defense business.

The company is competing for contracts on several defense projects including a design competition for a transport plane that could operate from short runways.

Its Air Force contract for the world's biggest transport plane, the C5A, nearly put Lockheed out of business.

Former Defense Secretary David Packard summed up the C5A issue for a congressional committee:

"Obviously, there is a problem when a program on which the original target cost for 115 airplanes was $1,768 million ends up in a now projected cost of $3,248 million for 81 airplanes."

When the C5A contract was rewritten, Lockheed was forced to take a $200 million loss and finish the work on a no-additional-loss, no-profit basis.

But not all the C5A work is done under that no-profit contract.

Pentagon figures obtained by The Associated Press show that from 1969 through 1972, $109.3 million was spent for C5A modifications, spares and component improvement. Lockheed was prime contractor for nearly all that work. The projection for 1973-1977 is for expenditure of $278.8 million.

Pentagon officials say that these costs are part of the continuing maintenance of any weapons system and that only time will tell if they will be higher or lower than usual with the C5A. So far, says the Air Force, the plane has performed well with lower than normal maintenance.

A check of Defense Department computer printouts listing nearly 3,000 transactions with Lockheed during the last two fiscal years disclosed the following:

—Despite administration predictions before congressional committees that Lockheed would have to expect a drop in its defense business in the mid-1970s, the trend for the past two fiscal years appears to be in the opposite direction.

—During the first nine months of the fiscal year ending June 30, Lockheed received $1,418 million in business from the Pentagon. That is less than $100 million below the total for all of the previous year and the last three months are often the busiest for awarding military contracts.

—Less than half the dollar value of Lockheed contracts was awarded on the basis of price competition, a situation congressional testimony has shown is common in defense contracting.

—A large chunk of the Lockheed contracts listed as price competitive was for the C5A where the final cost ended up far higher than the bid that won the job.

Seagren cracks world pole vault record

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Bob Seagren, the 1968 Olympic gold medalist, cracked the world pole vault record Sunday, but he doesn't think the new mark of 18 feet 5 1/4 inches will last long.

"Nineteen feet is near," the 25-year-old Seagren said Sunday after the vault that gave him the No. 1 spot on the United States track and field team for the Olympic Games in Munich.

Seagren turned on a crowd of 14,000 at Hayward Field as he conquered both 95-degree heat and nervousness to snap the world mark of 18-4 1/4 he shared with Sweden's Kjell Isaksson.

He said the record vault, which came on his third attempt, wasn't one of his best, but it was good enough for him to finish ahead of Steve Smith and Jan Johnson.

For the first time in history, three men cleared 18 feet in the same meet. Smith, from Cal State-Long Beach, and Johnson, from Alabama, finished second and third with vaults of 18-0 1/2.

An American record fell in the 400-yard intermediate hurdles as Ralph Mann, former Brigham Young star, clipped the tape in 48.4 seconds, four-tenths of a second under the previous mark he shared.

Mann, the world's largest hurdler at 6 feet 4, 180 pounds, has been troubled by injuries this year. He was back in form Sunday, however, pulling ahead of early leader Dick Bruggsman, the AAU champion from the Ohio Track Club, who finished second in 48.6.

The hometown crowd was on its feet in the 3,000-meter steeplechase as Mike Manley, a 30-year-old Eugene school teacher, finished first in 8:29.8 and Steve Savage, his Oregon Track Club teammate, took third in 8:32.

Tennessee's Doug Brown, who fell early in the race, fought back to earn the No. 2 spot in 8:31.8.

Frank Shorter, born in Munich, earned a trip there as America's No. 1 runner in the 10,000 meters although he "ran out of water, dehydrated and cramped up about six laps from the end."

Shorter had a big lead at the time and said he "just started jogging in," finishing first in 28 minutes 35.6 seconds.

Hope Rotary Club makes '72 plans

Plans for the Hope Rotary Club in the coming year were presented by the incoming president, Bob Roberts, and a challenge for the days ahead was given by the retiring president, Dr. Sam W. Strong, when the Hope Rotary Club closed out its club year Friday with a luncheon meeting at the Town and Country.

Roberts also gave Dr. Strong a past-president's pin in a brief ceremony.

To further better international understanding, Rotary Clubs in this district are planning an exchange of young men who are not Rotarians with New Zealanders for visits of several weeks this year. The Rev. Vernon Wickliffe was named to the newly created post of Chaplain for the Hope Rotary Club. Four Rotarians will plan the programs for the year with Dorsey McRae in charge of the first quarter. To inform young people about Rotary, a high school boy will be a guest each week at the club meetings. After his initial visit, the student will bring another student with him the second week. The following week, only the second boy will come but he will bring a third one with him. Thus, each week two high school students will be present.

Parting remarks by Dr. Strong pointed out the opportunity for good that members of the Hope Rotary Club have all around them. As Edmund Burke said, "The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing."

In addition to the local members, a visiting Rotarian, Jimmie Ligon of Conway, and Earl Munroe of Guyana, South America, were also in attendance.

Chris Evert is target of experiment at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England. (AP) — Teen-ager Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., beat Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif., 6-2 4-6, 6-1 today and moved into a women's singles semi-final match with defending champion Evonne Goolagong.

Miss Goolagong, the top seed, advanced to the semis, beating Francoise Durr of France 8-6, 7-5.

Little Rosemary Casals of San Francisco also advanced to the semifinals Wednesday, upsetting Nancy Gunter of San Angelo, Tex., 3-6, 6-4, 6-4.

She will play the winner of the match between second-seeded Billie Jean King, a three-time Wimbledon winner from Long Beach, Calif., and Virginia Wade of Britain.

The men's quarter-finals will be held Tuesday, with the United States being represented by top-seeded Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., and unseeded Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill.

Miss Goolagong's game has been erratic in her progress to today's quarter-finals. She dropped the first set and was in danger of losing to Russia's Olga Morozova in the fourth round.

Evonne's opponent in the quarter-finals is Francoise Durr of France, who has lost only six games in three matches.

Miss Evert, the 17-year-old bombshell from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., stuck to her practice of declining to speculate on what might happen when she plays Miss Goolagong.

In the quarter-finals, fourth-seeded Miss Evert meets unseeded Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif. Chris and Patti paced the U.S. Wightman Cup team to victory over Britain here last month, winning all their matches.

Three other American girls have made the quarter finals—Mrs. King of Long Beach, Calif., Nancy Gunter of San Angelo, Tex., and Rosemary Cas-als of San Francisco.

Billie Jean, three-time Wimbledon champion and seeded No. 2 this year, plays Britain's Virginia Wade, seeded seventh and Mrs. Gunter and Miss Casals are paired against each other.

Mrs. Wallace

to walk again

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace's mother had to learn to walk again after surgery 11 weeks ago for removal of a brain tumor. Now she feels strongly that her son will walk again.

Mozelle Wallace, 74, was still recuperating from the operation when her eldest son, campaigning at Laurel, Md., for the Democratic presidential nomination, was shot May 15 and left paralyzed in both legs.

"I was at home alone, but fortunately I didn't have the television on," she recalled in an interview Wednesday. "The neighbors began coming in to be with me, but it was Alton who told me about it."

Alton Dauphin Jr., who lives next door, is her son-in-law.

"He was in the barber shop when he heard it and he came right home. He said 'George has been shot. We don't know how bad it is. The only thing we can do is wait.'"

Mrs. Wallace, who retired three years ago as a state employee, said she always worries about her children—three sons and a daughter—"but I always worried more about George because he's been so prominent as a public figure and is in more danger."

"He had dinner with me Mother's Day," she recalled. "And when he went to the car, I said, 'I'm worried about you. Be careful.' He said, 'Mother, I'll be all right.'"

"Then the next afternoon this terrible thing happened. I wanted to go see him, but I wasn't able until a few days ago. Then Hurricane Agnes came along and I couldn't fly up there."

The governor is hospitalized at Silver Spring, Md. His mother expects him to return home in a few days.

Wallace's doctors say he has less than a 50-50 chance of ever walking again without crutches and braces. But his mother says, "He'll walk again. With his determination and the prayers of the people, he'll walk again."

Even though she confessed she's "not much of a politician," Mrs. Wallace said she had a feeling her son "will do all right" at the Democratic National Convention.

Mrs. Wallace retired in 1969 from her job.

White House is not 'home'

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Halfway through this election year, President Nixon has spent about two-thirds of his time away from the White House, where his lease is up for grabs.

During the first six months of 1972, Nixon spent all or part of 121 days away from Washington. There were 182 days during the half year.

The chief executive, who flew here Saturday for a stay of about two weeks, has adopted Aspen Lodge at the Camp David, Md., Navy-Marine base as

Four die in state mishaps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic mishaps in Arkansas have snuffed out four lives thus far in the Fourth of July holiday period.

One person was killed when a motorcycle overturned, one was killed when a bicycle and a pickup truck collided, one was killed when two cars crashed into each other and one died in the crash of a car with a train.

State Police Trooper J.C. Stiles said that Francis Anderson, 35, of Milwaukee, Wis., was killed 7.2 miles south of Pine Bluff Sunday when a Missouri Pacific Lines freight train collided with the car in which she was riding at a crossing on U.S. 65.

Stiles said the car, driven by Amos Anderson, 35, also of Milwaukee, skidded 145 feet to the point of impact, was dragged 25 feet down the railroad tracks and then burned.

The Associated Press death count period began at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight Tuesday.

Other victims:

—Luella Peden, 6, of near Green Forest, was killed Saturday when the car in which she was riding collided with another on U.S. 62 about three miles east of Green Forest.

—Melissa Bednar, 7, of near Slocack (Prairie County) was killed Sunday when she rode her bicycle out of yard onto Arkansas 86 and was struck by a pickup truck driven by John T. Dartar, 10, of near Stuttgart.

—Daniel Rex Parrish, 18, of near Corning was killed at midnight Friday when his motorcycle overturned in McDougal.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield names new president

LITTLE ROCK — Robert P. Taylor has been named president of Arkansas Blue Cross and Blue Shield. The announcement was made by John P. Price, M.D., Chairman of the health care plan's Board of Trustees at its quarterly meeting.

Presently a Senior Vice President of Worthen Bank and Trust Company and Executive Vice President and Director of First Arkansas Bankstock Corporation (FABCO), Taylor will continue in these capacities until taking over his new position on August 1.

Born in Paragould, Taylor moved to Little Rock as a child. He was educated in the public schools and graduated from Little Rock (Central) High School. He attended Little Rock Junior College (now U.A.L.R.) and earned a B.S. Degree in Marketing and a M.S. Degree in Economics at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville.

Taylor was a partner in the firm of Bird, Lange, Maris and Taylor, General Agents, and served as manager of that office following purchase of the company by Aetna Insurance Company. He joined Worthen in 1966 as a Vice President.

Active in Civic affairs, Taylor is a member of the Administrative Board of First United Methodist Church in Little Rock. He is a Vice President of Arkansas Travelers Baseball Club, Secretary of the War Memorial Stadium Commission and the his favorite retreat. Nixon spent all or part of 53 days there during the six months.

Runner-up in presidential favor was the Nixon home at Key Biscayne, Fla. He spent all or part of 53 days there or at the Bahamian island of Grand Cay, commuting distance away by helicopter.

Grand Cay is owned by New York industrialist Robert Abplanalp and Nixon's closest neighbor at Key Biscayne is banker-investor Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

Both men are with Nixon, as is his wife Pat, who arrived Sunday night from Chicago.

Ironically, Nixon has spent the least time at his oceanside mansion here, his voting residence in a state important to his bid for a second term. The President's current stay is his first since he was in California for six days in January.

Nixon's travel record was further extended, of course, by history-making trips to Peking and Moscow—the first ever made to those capitals by an American president. A third foreign journey took him across the border to Ottawa.

Strangely, Nixon has done little election-year touring of the home front, criss-crossed all year by potential Democratic rivals. He went to New York for an antidrug conference; to Philadelphia for a cultural event; and to the Floresville, Tex., home of former Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally.

Nixon has insisted he will do no politicking until after the Republican convention late next month.

Truman is in hospital

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman has entered Research Medical Center for routine examinations for what his personal doctor said was a "lower gastrointestinal problem."

The condition of the 88-year-old Truman, who was taken to the hospital last week after falling in his home, was termed satisfactory by his physician, Dr. Wallace H. Graham.

Dr. Graham said the former president's intestinal ailment is related to one which put Truman in the hospital for more than a week early in 1971.

Truman fell at his home last Tuesday. He spent an hour at the hospital having X-rays taken of his back after complaining of soreness.

Parking Authority of the City of Little Rock. He is a Board Member of the University of Arkansas Foundation, The Arkansas Children's Hospital and the Quapaw Area Council, Boy Scouts of America. He is advisor to the Junior League of Little Rock. He is a Past President of the University of Arkansas Alumni Association and was the recipient of the Outstanding Alumnus Award at Little Rock University (now U.A.L.R.).

Taylor is married to the former Marie Scott of Little Rock and he lives with his family at 1509 Winslow Drive. He is the father of two daughters and one son.

Taylor succeeds Sam M. Butler, who retired from the presidency of the firm on May 31 for health reasons.

Arkansas Blue Cross and Blue Shield serves over half-a-million Arkansas members in the prepayment of health care expenses. An additional 291,000 Arkansans are served by the firm, which acts as intermediary and Carrier for the Medicare and Champus programs of the Federal Government. In serving these Arkansans, nearly 100-million dollars were paid to providers of health care by the firm in 1971. The Corporation's state headquarters are at Sixth and Gaines in Little Rock. Branch offices are located in El Dorado, Fayetteville, Fort Smith, Hot Springs, Jonesboro, Pine Bluff, and West Memphis.

Weyland pegged 'rising star'

SAIGON (AP) — The new commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, Gen. Frederick C. Weyland, was pegged as a rising star in the Army long before he was first sent to Vietnam six years ago.

He proved his battle prowess as a battalion commander in the Korean war. And he demonstrated a talent for diplomacy from 1962 to 1964 in one of the most delicate Pentagon assignments—representing the Army on Capitol Hill as chief of legislative liaison.

Even then Weyland's colleagues were picking him as a future chief of staff, a fine performance for an ROTC graduate who never went to West Point. On Wednesday President Nixon gave him a big push toward the Army pinnacle when the White House announced that the 56-year-old native of Arbuckle, Calif., would succeed Gen. Creighton D. Abrams in the top American military post in Saigon.

If he follows the trail blazed by Abrams and his predecessor, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the next step for Weyland will be Chief of Staff.

Weyland has fought the Vietnamese Communists on the battlefield and sparred with them across the Paris conference table. He recently told friends that the Viet Cong "are as tough in suits and ties as they are in black pajamas."

The Viet Cong might say the same thing about the 6-foot 5-inch blond officer who steered the 25th Infantry Division into South Vietnam in 1966 and three years later turned up in Paris as the cool, articulate military adviser to the American delegation at the peace talks.

Weyland admits that he learned about Vietnam the hard way.

"When I left the 25th in 1967, I was sure the war was won," he told a reporter a few months after his promotion to commander of Field Forces 2. "But then I realized there was a war we hadn't even begun to fight—the war with the Viet Cong amongst the people."

Some of the most exciting fireworks can be found right at the bridge table. All that is required are four players and at least one vivid imagination.

There was nothing imaginative about the first round of the bidding except that South might well have tried a bid of two no-trump instead of three diamonds.

West's double was for take-out and East decided to bid three spades rather than take a chance with his ragged heart suit.

South's three no-trump call started the fireworks. He realized that he probably should have bid no-trump the time before and was trying to correct.

East's double represented more fireworks. He did have an ace and had really made no bid at all with it.

West opened the queen of spades. At this point South should have won in dummy and rattled off six diamond tricks. After that start he might well be able to score a ninth trick if his opponents discarded badly but for some reason best known to him he decided to duck in both hands.

This started the pyrotechnics. West shifted to the king of clubs and continued with the queen and 10 after East signaled with the seven. East overtook; cashed the nine and led a heart. Meanwhile, South had let a heart go from dummy and the defense collected four heart tricks and 1,400 points.

A—Bid three hearts. You only have 10 high-card points but your distribution warrants a game contract.

What is overactive thyroid?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—With the exception of mild anemia, I have always been very healthy until I got the flu. I wasn't given antibiotics until a month later and I have had vomiting and spasms of the stomach muscles. Despite antibiotic treatment my eyes remain swollen and protruding, and I was diagnosed as having an overactive thyroid. I have been taking a white pill called Tapazole for this. I go to the eye clinic every three months and have my eyeballs measured. What I would like to know is how did I get this and could this have been from the flu? Is it hereditary? I have no relatives with thyroid trouble. What is the life expectancy for a person with such a disease?

Dear Reader—Apparently, your doctor does think you have an overactive thyroid, or he would not be giving you the white pill (Tapazole). First, let me say that antibiotics are of no value whatever in the treatment of flu or any other real virus infection. Antibiotics are useful in the treating of bacterial complications. Not getting penicillin has nothing to do with your thyroid problem.

It is probably true though that your vomiting was associated with an overactive thyroid. It is also true that an illness can trigger off an attack of overactivity of the thyroid if you already have the underlying problem. In people with long-term overactive thyroid problems, the worst difficulties tend to come and go; frequently as attacks in the fall and spring. Sometimes the problem is worse after emotional strain, but there is no specific link between flu and an overactive thyroid.

It is difficult to say what causes an overactive thyroid. There is some tendency for thyroid difficulties to occur in families, but not as a specifically inherited disease.

The main symptoms of an overactive thyroid are a large appetite, associated with weight loss (if it were not for a few other things, many people would like to have this), excessive nervousness, intolerance to heat with excessive sweating, thin, dry skin, sometimes an increase in body temperature, fine hair, overactive digestive tract which may include vomiting and diarrhea, fast heart rate and in some people the pop eyes that you are describing.

The prominence of the eyes is thought to be caused by a hormone from the pituitary gland, underneath the brain and behind the eyes. This hormone overstimulates the thyroid (thyrotropic hormone) and in some way the development of the prominent eyes.

Most overactive thyroid problems can be controlled with modern medicine if the patient is diligent in following his doctor's instructions. So most individuals with these problems can expect to get along with a minimum of difficulty and remain gainfully employed and otherwise active.

The day this picture was taken in 1912, Paw Paw Meyer had been up half the night baking bread.

Young Charlie Meyer was nervous. He had gotten out of bed at 2 a.m. to bake four dozen loaves of bread he wasn't sure anyone would buy. And now he was just driving his wagon around town trying to work up enough courage to stop and begin selling it.

Maybe if he stopped for coffee with a merchant, the subject of bread might come up. Sure enough, the idea worked and he stumbled into his sales presentation. The grocer bought all 48 loaves and Meyer's Bakery was in business.

Later, additional employees were needed to help with the work. The wagon was sold and replaced by a truck. And his young son took a nap beneath the retail sales counter where his mother could look after him.

Now, Meyer's Bakeries enters its seventh decade and third generation in business by concentrating exclusively on Brown 'n Serve breads, rolls and English Muffin products. We produce more than 20 Brown 'n Serve and English Muffin products for 279 company labels from coast to coast. And, thanks to our customers and employees, we've become the largest producer of Brown 'n Serve and English Muffin products in the nation.

Meyer's and the bakery business have changed a lot in the last 60 years. But our belief in producing quality products hasn't changed a bit. And we're interested in improving not only our products, but our community as well. We get that from Paw Paw.
